This conference aims to:

- Explore the barriers to promoting equality and tackling racism
- Enable delegates to recognise racist incidents and explore how to respond to them most effectively
- Encourage participants to embed equality throughout the school environment
- Explore appropriate language relating to ethnicity
- Enable delegates to understand some of the cultural sensitivities often associated with Gypsy, Roma and Traveller communities

This training day seeks to provide practitioners with a safe and non-judgmental environment to explore issues relating to racism. We know that racism towards Gypsy, Roma & Traveller children is still an issue that many teachers and practitioners have to deal with in schools; there is often uncertainty about how to deal with racist incidents, how to respond to inappropriate language relating to ethnicity, how to navigate cultural sensitivities and how to embed equality into general practice. This conference will offer practical activities and solutions to deal with these issues.
